

BOARD OF DIRECTORS CHARTER

Critical Elements Lithium Corporation (“Critical Elements” or “Corporation”) is established under the Canada Business Corporations Act and listed on the TSX Venture Exchange, on the American Over-The-Counter QX stock exchange (OTCQX) and on the Frankfurt Exchange. The purpose of the Corporation is profitably delivering responsibly sourced lithium for sustainable green energy solutions through partnerships with our stakeholders.

This Charter outlines the mandate, membership, authority and responsibilities of the board of directors (the “Board”) and it may be amended from time to time by the Board.

MANDATE

The Board of the Corporation is responsible for the overall stewardship of the business and affairs of the Corporation as required under applicable legislation and stock exchange rules. The Board delegates the responsibility for the day-to-day operations to the Chief Executive Officer (“CEO”) and the executive management team. The Board, directly through its policies and through its committees, shall provide strategic direction and oversight for achieving the Corporate Purpose.

COMPOSITION

The Board is elected by the shareholders at each annual meeting of shareholders of the Corporation.

Membership Criteria and Board Succession

The Governance and Nominating Committee is responsible for maintaining a Board succession plan that is responsive to the needs of Critical Elements and the long-term interests of its shareholders. Candidates are initially considered and recommended by the Governance and Nominating Committee then approved by the entire Board and elected annually by the Corporation’s shareholders.

Candidates will be identified based on the current needs for Board composition, including the diversity of its membership and the competencies and skills that it possesses as a whole and the competencies and skills the candidate would bring to the Board. The nominee’s integrity, reputation and accomplishments, as well as the ability of the candidate to contribute to effective oversight of the management of the Corporation will also be considered.

Majority Voting Policy

Each director should be individually elected by the vote of a majority of the shares represented in person or by proxy at any meeting for the election of directors. Forms of proxy for the election of directors will permit a shareholder to vote in favour of, or to withhold from voting, separately for each director nominee. The Chair of the Board will ensure that the number of shares voted in favour or withheld from voting for each director nominee is recorded and promptly made public after the meeting. If any nominee for director receives, from the shares voted at the meeting in person or by proxy, a greater number of shares withheld than shares voted in favour of his or her election, that director must promptly tender his or her resignation to the Chair of the Board following the meeting. The Board shall determine whether or not to accept the resignation within 90 days after the date of the relevant security holders' meeting. The Board must accept the resignation unless there are exceptional circumstances which warrant not accepting the resignation. The resignation will be effective when accepted by the Board. The Corporation will promptly issue a news release with respect to the Board's decision on the resignation and, if the Board decides not to accept the resignation, the reasons for that decision will be set out in the news release.

Any director who tenders his or her resignation will not participate in any Board deliberations as to whether his or her resignation should be accepted. In the event any director fails to tender his or her resignation in accordance with this policy, the Board will not re-nominate the director. Subject to any corporate law restrictions, the Board is not limited in any action it may take if a director's resignation is accepted, including:

- (i) leaving a vacancy in the Board unfilled until the next annual general meeting;
- (ii) filling the vacancy by appointing a new director whom the Board considers to merit the confidence of the shareholders; or
- (iii) calling a special meeting of shareholders to consider a new Board nominee to fill the vacant position.

This majority voting policy does not apply to a contested election of directors, that is, where the number of nominees exceeds the number of directors to be elected.

Director Independence

The Board shall be constituted of a majority of directors who are "independent", as determined by the Board in accordance with applicable securities laws and stock exchange rules. Generally, an independent director means a director who has no direct or indirect material relationship with the Corporation. For these purposes, "material relationship" means a relationship which could, in the view of the Board, reasonably interfere with the exercise of a director's independent judgment.

Directors have an ongoing obligation to inform the Board of any material changes in their circumstances or relationships which may affect the Board's determination as to their independence.

The Board will review the independence of all directors on an annual basis and will disclose its determinations in the Corporation's management information circular.

In order to balance the interests of the Corporation in retaining directors who have been able to develop, over a period of time, significant insight into the Corporation and its operations and an institutional memory that benefits the Board as well as management while, at the same time, ensuring for sufficient renewal, no more than one third of the non-executive directors may exceed the lengthy tenure limit, which is set at 10 years.

- Understand the Corporation and its Business. Each director is expected to develop and maintain a thorough understanding of Critical Elements’ business, its strategy, business operations, financial position and performance, the risks it faces and the social and political environments in which it operates.
- Loyalty and Ethics. All directors owe a duty of loyalty to Critical Elements which requires each director to put the best interests of the Corporation ahead of any other commercial interest he or she may have. Directors are expected to conduct themselves in accordance with Critical Elements’ Code of Business Conduct and Ethics. Directors must disclose any conflict of interest on any issue, including any interest in a material contract or transaction, brought before the Board and refrain from participating in the Board discussion and voting on the matter unless asked by the Board to do so.
- Prepare for Meetings. Directors are expected to diligently prepare for each meeting, including by reviewing all materials circulated in advance of each meeting and should arrive prepared to discuss the issues presented. Directors are encouraged to contact the Board Chair, committee Chairs, the CEO and any other appropriate officer to ask questions and discuss agenda items prior to meetings.

- Other Directorships and Significant Activities. Critical Elements values the experience directors bring from other boards on which they serve and other activities in which they participate, but recognizes that those boards and activities may also present demands on a director’s time and availability and may present conflicts or legal issues, including independence issues. Each director should, when considering membership on another board, make every effort to ensure that such membership will not impair the director’s time and availability for his or her commitment to Critical Elements. The Board believes that this objective is served by limiting the number of other public company boards a director may serve on to four (4). Directors must seek approval by the Board Chair, the Chair of the Governance and Nominating Committee and the CEO before accepting membership on the board of another public company or establishing other significant relationships, particularly those that may result in significant time commitments.
- Confidentiality. Each director must maintain the confidentiality of information received in connection with his or her services as a director of the Corporation.
